The Listening Place

The Listening Place was founded in 2016 by a handful of volunteers, as a result of the increasing number of people taking their own lives. They offer an initial appointment within a week of referral and then provide face-to-face sessions based on the principles of active listening.

These are delivered by empathetic and non-judgemental volunteers for as long as it takes to reduce their suicidal feelings. Each visitor will see the same volunteer each time so that they can build and sustain a trusting relationship.

Suicide is the leading cause of death in all adults under 35

We lose someone to suicide every 75 minutes in the UK

“It was a life saver in an incredibly difficult time. I had nowhere else to turn. The Listening Place gave me a reason to keep on going.”
